As a child her family moved to Lincoln NE, where she and hersiblings attended Haywood school. Frieda was baptized in the German Church. From Lincoln the family moved to Stegall NE. Frieda received her education at Owl Creek, a country school.She married Alex Sander Rexius January 4, 1933 in Gering NE. In 1950 the family moved to Torrington WY, where Frieda started her lifelong career keeping house and catering parties for several prominent residents of the area. She worked for Colyer Funeral Home for over 44 years. In 1968 Frieda married Clarence Lipker. Their home was one of joy and laughter until Clarence passed away in 1974. In 1994 Frieda married her third husband, Wayne Coen.

They enjoyed relaxing at home in Torrington and Farming south of Lyman. Wayne preceded Frieda in death in 1999. Frieda loved cooking and gardening, keeping a beautiful home in Torrington. Family joked about her always passing the “white glove test” as her home was always warm, inviting and supremely immaculate. She was known for her special pies and cakes, German pastries, and every scrumptious Jello dessert imaginable. When visiting Frieda, friends always knew they would be served a delicious pastry and fresh brewed coffee to their liking. Meals always felt like special occasions served at a beautiful table and with the finest of china. She loved creating and surrounding her family with beauty; but more than anything, she loved her friends and family. Her children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great grandchildren meant everything to Frieda. She enriched their lives with love, smiles, hugs, jokes, encouragement and special treats. She enjoyed playing Bingo and taking trips to Prairie Wind Casino with her many friends until the age of 95, at which time she moved to Goshen Care Center.
