

Andi Sarah Cornwall

November 30, 1966 - March 14, 2022

Andi Sarah Cornwall, our beloved daughter, wife and mother, passed away on March 14, 2022 at the age of 55. She was born November 30, 1966 in Raleigh, North Carolina to Charles and Dana Craft. In 1968, she and her family moved to Casper, Wyoming.

Andi graduated high school from Natrona County in May of 1985 and later went on to attend Casper Community College and Chadron State College. She worked in various libraries throughout her life including the Casper Community College Book Store, Lingle Ft. Laramie Elementary Library, Trail Elementary Library and was employed by the Wyoming Correctional Institution Library in Torrington. When school was not in session, she worked at the Fort Laramie National Historic Site, a job which she enjoyed immensely.

Andi had a passion for books and education. She aimed to spread joy by sharing that love with children and adults throughout the community. She also enjoyed gardening, cooking, and spending time with her friends, family and pug, Rosie. She is preceded in death by her father, Charles Craft, and her sister, Robin Craft. She is survived by her mother, Dana Craft, her husband, Dan Cornwall, and her three daughters, Clara, Alexandra, and Becky Sutherland.

Andi's Celebration of Life will be held at 4:00pm in the American Legion in Torrington, Wyoming on March 25th, 2022.

“ *Dan and family,
I am saddened to hear this. I know how much Andi loved The Old Fort and books.
May you find comfort in faith and great memories.

“ When Andi and I were fee collectors at Fort Laramie, she was my first friend there. She was so innocent. It was hard for her to say no to any visitors. But she was proud to wear the 'flat hat'. She will be missed.
