“ Jimmy and I were good friends all the way through the 12 years of primary and secondary education. I have many class pictures with Jimmy in them. He always got better grades than I did which ticked me off, but other than that we got along fine. ”

Jimmy and I would play baseball together in the summer, and we knew then it was all about the pitching. If your good pitcher showed up, you were likely to win the game.

Jimmy will be greatly missed by many!

My deepest sympathies go with you and yours!
