“ How do you describe a lifetime of memories?

As a close friend of my family, I knew Zelma from the time I was born. Memories for me range from the Christmas' she spent with us; visiting her at her home, where we would learn and play card game for hours (those multiple deck games, like Canasta. Boy we had a lot of fun with them!); and she would sit and talk with my mother about the past and present and from this I would learn family history and Torrington area history and she always had brownies or rhubarb crisp or some other delicious treat. So many memories, they all run together, and they were all good times.

Zelma, was to me, one of those unique people you meet maybe once in your lifetime.

I am a better person for knowing her.

I will carry her memory with me forever.
